SILVER COIN.

The Government Refuses to Pay for its Transportation to Localities Where it is Needed.

The Times-Review says: "The Grand Prize Company until the last month has always procured from the Sub-Treasury at San Francisco $1,000 in silver dollars to use in the payment of their monthly expenses. The transportation of the coin had up to that time been paid by the Government, which could well afford the outlay, as its profit on coinage on silver considerably exceeded the cost of expressage. Upon application of the secretary of the company last month, however, he was informed that no more silver coin could be procured upon those terms, and he was consequently obliged to get it from a bank and send it here at the expense of the company. There is no good reason why this discrimination should be made against silver coin. The present Administration professes a desire to promote the circulation of that kind of currency, but its act in this respect certainly does not verify its profession. While gold is coined at a loss to the Government, it realizes a profit on silver considerably in excess of the cost of transportation, and there is no reason why a portion of that profit should not be used in facilitating its circulation. If the Administration is sincere in its profession it will rescind this most contradictory order."

The exports from this country thus far in the present year show no marked changes from the figures for 1884. Only about half as much cotton was sent off in July, 1885, as in July, 1884, but the total value of this export for the eleven months ending with July this year was $195,396,939, against $193,950,307 for the eleven months ending with July last year. The export of wheat since January 1 exceeded by less than 160,000 bushels those in the first seven months of 1884, but the lower prices this year make the value only $31,034,006, against $36,199,601 last year. The total value of all breadstuffs sent abroad during the first seven months of 1885 was $85,558,982, against $80,546,131 in the corresponding period of 1884. The number of cattle exported in the same months fell off about 7 per cent. as compared with last year, while the number of hogs more than doubled, and the amount of pork products showed a considerable increase. A trifle less fresh beef was sent across the ocean, but the quantity of beef salted, pickled, and otherwise cured almost doubled, reaching 41,724,892 pounds; cheese fell off, but butter gained. The total values of all beef, pork and dairy products thus far this year aggregate $56,904,369, against $54,311,766 for the same time last year. As a whole, therefore, the export trade shows hardly any change.

Considerable surprise and regret has been occasioned in London at the tone of Vice President Hendricks' speech at Indianapolis siding with Parnell in the latter's issue with England. It is urged by British politicians that owing to his position he ought to have taken a neutral position.

The President at a late hour Wednesday afternoon appointed Mrs. Marion Mulligan, of Chicago, to be Pension Agent at Chicago, vice Miss Ada C. Sweet resigned, and Joseph D. Bethune, of California, to be Register of the Land Office at Los Angeles.

It would now be in order to start an item on its rounds that President Cleveland is to marry Miss Nellie Arthur, who, it is said, is growing prettier and more charming every day.

NEVADA STATE FAIR.

The Coming Exposition at Reno of the Agricultural, Mineralogical and Other Resources and Products of Nevada.

The Enterprise correctly remarks:

In years past it has been no easy matter to get up a State Fair, and the few promoters of those annual exhibits have found it uphill work, even in prosperous times. They have never looked for remunerative financial success, therefore have been gratified by coming out even, or not far behind. Public spiritedness and an earnest desire to foster and encourage the industries and promote the resources of the State has been the principal motive animating the managing spirits of these Fairs or exhibitions. A more liberal desire to second these laudable efforts has become more and more apparent of late, aided by the increasing prosperity and prominence of the agricultural interests. Nevada's grains, vegetables and fruits and even hay are now of recognized superiority among the products of the Nation. Nevada's cattle, horses and sheep are driven and shipped to markets both East and West. Nevada's ores and minerals attracted the greatest attention at the National Exposition at New Orleans, and Nevada's bullion has awayed the financial markets of the world.

It is this inherent feeling of growing prosperity that induces a better desire to gather in at the annual State Fair with the agricultural and industrial products from all quarters of the State. Improved breeds of cattle, horses and sheep, introduced within the last few years, are showing marked effect in the prosperity of the herdsmen, and the shrewd rancher who brings in specimens of his improved animals and the products of his agricultural industry is given an opportunity to compare notes and experience with others as enterprising as himself, and he cannot fail to profit thereby far beyond the financial or honorary prize he may be awarded in recognition of his superior ability or enterprise. The man of superior intelligence in this or any other line wrongs his neighbors and the world in hiding his light under a bushel instead of bringing it forth and letting it so shine that he and all others may be profited thereby.

The State Fair is the greatest and best possible advertisement of individual superiority and enterprise in the lines indicated, and this idea has been well understood and profitably acted upon in the older States. By all means let Nevada be not backward in this matter, or blind to her own interest. People will be present from other parts of the world, from California and others of our sister States, quietly observant people, appreciative and speculative, and by the agricultural, industrial and mineralogical products of the State will the people, the resources and the measure of Nevada's prosperity be squarely judged and effectually appreciated.

Excursion to Reno.

The Enterprise, of yesterday, tells of the excursion here to-morrow in the annexed:

A meeting of the Masonic fraternity was held in Masonic Hall last evening to make arrangements for an excursion to Reno on Saturday next to attend the ceremony of laying the corner stone of the new University building. Much enthusiasm prevailed, and over forty of the brethren agreed to go. The list will be kept open to-day at the office of Henry Rolfe in the Odd Fellows' Building, for the purpose of enabling the public generally to avail themselves of the opportunity to take part in the excursion. It is only possible to insure a low rate for the round trip on a special train by securing the sale of at least seventy-five tickets. All those intending to go should notify Mr. Rolfe, so that the arrangements for a special may be completed without delay. Under these circumstances the round-trip fare will be $2 50. The public school teachers and friends of education generally are invited to co-operate in this matter, which is of special interest to them. It should be understood that though the ceremony is under the auspices of the Masons it is a matter of public interest, and the public generally are invited to take part. Many of the residents of Silver City, Dayton and Carson will also take part in the excursion.

Candidates for the State Prison.

The Carson Index says:

The Washoe county Grand Jury did a land office business Monday. There were fifteen indictments found, the two ignored being a Chinaman and the man accused of burglarizing May Murphy's house. The Jury will meet again October 19th. Washoe county is keeping a good representation in the State Prison. It begins to look as if Washoe county deserved a State Prison for her own special use. Reno politicians now have a strong argument for moving the State Prison to Reno. If they furnish more convicts than any three counties in the State they have a right to claim the State Prison.

It is expected that every county in the State will be represented by exhibits at the State Fair.

Justice Miller.

Justice Miller of the Supreme Court will it is said retire from the bench. He has been advised by his physician to retire because of a serious affection of the bladder. He is the senior Justice on the bench, and one of the best and ablest of the Justices. He is a man of stout figure, and is about five feet ten inches in height. He has a handsome character-face, full of positive sweeping lines. His forehead is broad and full; his eyes a dark black, deeply set; his nose a roman hook, his mouth a fierce, decided curve; the lower part of his face is double-obliterated and smooth-shaven. He is very swarthy and dark. He has a rich, deep, manly voice, and is very highly respected by the legal profession for his ability and his integrity. He always dresses in the old-fashioned black broadcloth dress-suits. He was originally appointed to the bench by Abraham Lincoln.

Views of C. C. Thomas, United States Commissioner.

The following letter appears in a late number of the New Orleans Times-Democrat:

STENO, Aug. 15, 1885—I am in receipt of your favor of the 6th ultimo, asking me to give my views as to the effects and results of the World's Industrial and Cotton Centennial Exposition lately held in the city of New Orleans. This Exposition has, in my opinion, been of great benefit to such of the State as made collective exhibits of their resources thereat. It has shown to the people of the whole country what are the special resources and products of each State. It has been the means of showing the immense value of the agricultural, mineral, forest and manufacturing resources of our common country. Many of us had no idea of those immense resources before we visited the New Orleans Exposition.

The Nevada exhibit was mostly of its mineral products, as mining is our principal industry, and those specimens of silver, gold, nickel, cobalt, copper, lead and iron ores were collected from the various mines now worked in the several mining districts of this State, situated in Storey, Lyon, Esmeralda, Humboldt, Churchill, Elko, Eureka, Nye and Lincoln counties, and extending over the greater part of Nevada. Most of these outside of the Comstock lode are in the hands of persons of moderate means. If this Nevada exhibit should induce capital to assist in developing these mines, as we hope and expect, it would be of immense advantage to the State, and to the men who would engage in business. There is no doubt that a vast number of excellent mines in Nevada are lying dormant for want of sufficient capital to develop and open them. What is wanted most is smelting and milling works. There is ample water power for these on the Truckee. If they were erected the miners could then transport their ores over the Central Pacific Railroad and have them worked, and if this was done hundreds of mines would be operated at a profit.

I am in hopes that our exhibit at New Orleans of so much rich ore from the outside districts may induce some capitalists to embark in this enterprise.

The exhibit also showed many of the agricultural products of this State, such as wheat, barley, oats, apples, potatoes, cotton, etc. Nevada received the first and second prize for wheat, and the first prize for potatoes and a medal for fine apples. This fact should benefit us, as it shows that our soil can produce any of the cereals and fruits. The fact is Nevada is an excellent grazing and agricultural State in many portions of it. But our people are mostly engaged in mining, and have not yet taken to agriculture. The World's Exposition will probably induce them to pay more attention to the latter industry. In Lincoln county fine cotton is grown, and we had on exhibition a sample of cotton. The soil and climate in this portion of the State is adapted to cotton raising.

In addition to the benefits resulting to such state by the World's Exposition, it has been of great good to the people of all the States, it has brought so many of them together from the various sections, and all have received valuable information about different parts of the country and a higher idea of the immensity of the wealth and resources of the United States.

The larger mines of the State were represented by photographs showing the machinery and building. The Northern Belle Mine sent a model showing the different shafts, levels and workings of the mine. The mineral specimens sent from the mines were of the richest variety, though not of gaudy colors or dazzling brilliancy. Many of the specimens would yield $5 to the pound. The record of the Nevada mines is one of great prosperity, the output to date being more than $8,000,000,000.

Heavy Alfalfa Crops.

Joseph Marzen, of Lovelock, has stacked some 4,000 tons of hay this season. He is now cutting the third crop of alfalfa. The average yield of his alfalfa fields is about five tons per acre. A dozen years ago the land which produces these heavy crops was covered with sagebrush and greasewood, and considered as valueless almost as any of the deserts of Nevada. All that was required to bring about the change was plowing and seeding the ground and irrigating it. The soil is alluvial, having, like all the Big Meadows and the Humboldt Valley generally, been at one time covered with water; so says the Silver State.

They Don't Seem to Want It.

Wednesday four men, who had not heard of the recent advance in State lands, called at the State Land Office for the purpose of buying more land, but declined to purchase an acre when told the price. One of the four, James Sloan, of Humboldt, wanted 2,000 acres.

A Strange Lake.

Up in the rocky fastnesses of the Sierra, above Ewer's Valley, says the Truckee Republican, is a fine lake, so surrounded by bold, precipitous cliffs that it is impossible to reach its shores save by one narrow cleft in the rocks. Mr. Ewer passed and repassed the place many times during a number of years before he discovered it, though the lake has a circumference of at least a mile. A beautiful grassy flat surrounds it, and this year Mr. Ewer has managed to get his calves into this rock-walled pasture. It is impossible to give a correct idea of the sublimity or loveliness of the scene from the shores of this strange body of water. Majestic barriers of granite frown on every side, rising hundreds of feet perpendicularly on the side nearest the summit, and everywhere rearing themselves sufficiently high to shut out a view of aught save the clear, blue sky. Millions of tiny frogs hop about the meadow, and Mr. Ewer gave the sheet of water the unpoetic name of Frog Lake. It would be much better to call it Crater Lake, as it is doubtless the mouth of some extinct volcano of forgotten ages. Mr. Ewer has stocked the waters with trout, and in years to come it will be visited by thousands of wondering tourists. It is exceedingly deep, the waters being a dark fathomless blue from the very margin.

State Fair Exhibits.

The following circular has been issued by the Southern Pacific Company:

GENERAL FREIGHT OFFICE,
August 28, 1885.

To AGENTS:—Articles destined for exhibition at the State Fair to be held at Reno this season, when from points within the State of Nevada, will be way-billed at regular rates to Reno and charges collected on delivery as usual.

On returning, the agent at Reno will way-bill the freight with charges, and shippers will call upon the agent at original shipping point, present the usual certificate from Secretary of the Agricultural Society that property has not changed hands while on exhibition, and also expense bill for charges paid at Reno, when the agent will refund the amount collected at Reno, receipt the expense bill for return service, and send both with the Secretary's certificate to the Treasurer as cash.

Shipments from points in California will be way-billed at regular rates to Reno. On presentation of a certificate from the Secretary of the Association, that the property has not changed hands while on exhibition, the agent at Reno will way-bill the property to points of shipment free, (quote on way-bill "Secretary's certificate taken up.") but will not refund the charges on freight going to Reno State Fair.

RICH'D GRAY,
Gen'l Frt. Agent.

The Water in Walker and Owens Rivers.

The Carson Index says water in Walker river is so scarce that farmers in Mason Valley cannot get enough to irrigate the second crop of alfalfa, and a short crop is expected; but Owens river, says the fayo Independent, rolls down its great volume of water into the lake in an undiminished flood that would irrigate thousands of acres of the finest alfalfa land. This fine stream has its source so far back in the Sierra mountains, and drains such a great area of snowy regions, that its volume changes as little as the Saint Lawrence changes.

Elko's Assessment.

The assessment roll of Elko county for the fiscal year 1885, is completed and the amount of taxable property, both real and personal, foots up $4,066,078, an increase of $131,574 over last year's assessment. The rate of taxation this year is $2 15 on $100 valuation, which, were the whole amount collected, would produce a revenue of $87,420 67 to the county. Taking the delinquencies of last year, which amount to less than $1,500, as a basis for this year's collections, they can count on $86,000 in round numbers, as the revenues of the county derived from direct taxation.

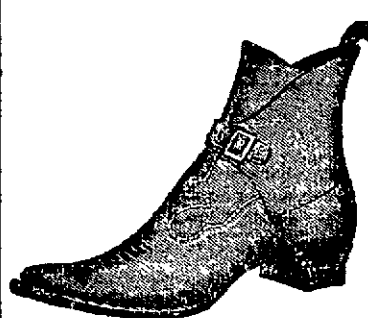

The P. R.

The Carson Appeal says: Young Elliott, the pugilist, who did up the derby a few months ago in this city is now in Reno. He styles himself as the champion of Reno and the circle of country lying around it and contiguous on the JOURNAL map.

There are several hard-bitters in this city who think they can down him for about $50, and the gate receipts, and there is a chance that there will be a scrap next month.
